DivcoWest Purchases One Kendall Square Campus in Cambridge

CAMBRIDGE, MA - January 22, 2014 – DivcoWest has closed on the purchase of One Kendall Square, an 11-building campus located in Cambridge, MA. The purchase includes 670,000 square feet of office, retail and laboratory space and a 1,500-space garage. The seller was a joint venture of Related Beal and Rockwood Capital, represented by Cushman & Wakefield.

One Kendall Square further expands the Boston portfolio of San Francisco-based DivcoWest, an active investor in technology-related real estate properties. Similar to recent DivcoWest acquisitions such as the Davenport in Cambridge and several buildings in the Seaport District, One Kendall Square attracts a diverse community of companies including biotech, life sciences and office users.

The breadth of intellectual capital already centered within the One Kendall campus supports an attractive office expansion option for technology and other companies seeking to establish an increased presence in the East Cambridge sub-market which includes the Cambridge Innovation Center and MIT, both situated adjacent to One Kendall Square.

In addition to having one of the largest parking garages in the immediate area, the campus is situated just a short walk from the MBTA's red and green lines and is widely served by the city's bus system.
